

Before you continue to buy a Short Term Motor Insurance policy, you must ensure that you read, understand and agree to all of the Terms & Conditions below. It is very important that you read and understand the Terms & Conditions and that the vehicle and all driver(s), meet the criteria specified. This forms the basis of your policy if you decide to buy and your policy may be invalid if you decide to buy and do not meet the criteria stated.

All of your answers on proposal/application forms, statements made to us and all other documentation, whatever the medium of communication, are your responsibility as Proposer/Policyholder. It is the Proposer's/Policyholder's responsibility, as a matter of law, to provide fully complete and accurate information to The Company/The Insurer whenever a policy is taken out, and this responsibility is extended throughout the lifespan of the policy. All of the Proposer's/Policyholder's statements and information included in proposal/application forms, claim forms, statements of fact and all other documentation, whether completed electronically or otherwise, must be complete and accurate. Any information whatsoever which might have a bearing on the acceptability or otherwise of the proposal/application for insurance, or the continuance of such insurance, must be disclosed at the earliest opportunity. Failure to disclose this material information may result in The Insurer reducing the level of cover available under the insurance, or may result in the total withdrawal of cover.

If you are unsure about any aspect of material information in connection with a proposal/application, then please contact us for further advice and assistance. For your own protection, you are advised to retain copies of any documentation/correspondence that you send to us. If you are providing information about other person/s included in the proposal/application, then it is also your responsibility as Proposer/Policyholder to ensure that the other person/s has given you permission to divulge the information, and that the information provided is complete and accurate.

Road Licencing (Vehicle Tax)

Whilst we as a company agree with the common principle that road fund licence (vehicle tax) should be purchased using an annual motor insurance certificate, there are many legitimate reasons why customers would want to purchase vehicle tax with a short term certificate. Whilst electronically delivered certificates are now widely accepted at many Post Offices and DVLA Local Offices, and also online via the DVLA direct website at www.vehiclelicence.gov.uk the law has not yet caught up with common practice. We cannot, therefore, guarantee that a short term certificate will be accepted when purchasing vehicle tax, and there may occasionally be instances where your application is refused.

Please note that all our Short Term Insurance policies are submitted to the Motor Insurance Database (MID) at midnight every day, and consequently any online car tax applications will depend upon the MID being updated accordingly.

Please also note that in the event of a short term policy not being accepted for vehicle tax purposes, we will unfortunately not be able to refund any premiums.

Customer Acceptance Criteria
